

“The Spirit of Togetherness” by Yvonne Muinde, installed in 2003 at the Blair-Caldwell African American Research Library.

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____
8. _____
9. _____
10. _____
11. _____

- | | |
|--------------------|-----------------------|
| a. Marie Greenwood | b. Wellington E. Webb |
| c. Sam Cary | d. Elvin R. Caldwell |
| e. Omar Blair | f. Sonny Lawson |
| g. Rachel Noel | h. O.T. Jackson |
| i. Arie P. Taylor | j. John Mosley |
| k. Wilma J. Webb | |

“The Spirit of Togetherness” is a painted portrait of local and national historic figures that celebrate the Black American experience. You can find this mural above the arched entryway into the main area of the Blair-Caldwell African American Research Library. Who do you recognize? The man holding the picture is “Daddy” Bruce Randolph, a local philanthropist and businessman that hailed from Five Points.